I desire to inform my friends that I have made arrangements with I. W. Harp, District of Nelson County, Kentucky, for the exclusive sale of his Whiskies in this county. Harp's Whiskies have been long and favorably known for their absolute purity, their excellent flavor and old age, it being a rule of the Distillery not to sell a barrel until it has attained the age of at least four years. I have made it my business to study, have always endeavored to keep up to the mark, and now since I am able to offer Harp's Whiskies, I am confident I have the best in the land. The public will please make a note of this.
Respectfully,
J. F. SARKIS, Sole Agent,

Excessive Heat
And improper food at this season of the year may speedily carry you to the grave. Parker's Ginger Tonic should always be kept in the house, as it is unequalled for nursing mothers with teething children, and not only cures Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cholera, Cholera Infantum, Colic, Cramps, &c, but prevents these dangerous attacks. By its corrective action on the digestive apparatus it cures Headache, Indigestion, Nervousness, Palpitation of the Heart, Weakness, Neuralgia, Pains, Liver Disorders, Sour stomach, Low spirits and all other symptoms and forms of Dyspepsia, regulates the bowels, and enables you to enjoy the fruits and vegetables of the season. Buy a 50c bottle or $1 00 and try it. Sold by Dr. Jas. A. Maxwell.

What Does it Matter?
It matters little where I was born,
Or if my parents were rich or poor;
Whether they drank at the cold world's fountain,
Or walked in the pride of wealth secure.
But whether I live in honest man,
And hold my integrity firm in my clutch
I tell you brother, plain as I can,
It matters much!

It matters little how long I stay
In a world of sorrow, sin and care;
Whether in youth I am called away,
Or live till my bones and pate are bare.
But whether I do the best I can
To reach the weight of adversity's touch,
On the faded cheek of my fellow man,
It matters much!

It matters little where my grave,
Or on the land or on the sea;
By purring brook or stormy wave
It matters little or ought to me,
But whether the angel Death comes down
And marks my brow with his loving touch,
As one that shall wear the victor's crown,
It matters much!

NECOSMIA.

ANOTHER INTERESTING LETTER FROM THAT WONDERFUL COUNTRY.

Correspondence of the Christian, St. Louis.
My former letter probably reached you some days ago. This will soon be committed to wind, wave, and steam, and will finally reach its destination, though so many leagues of stormy seas lie between us. Important as are my scientific studies here—and I enjoy rare opportunities to study the phenomena of sea, air, light and auratic heavens—and busy as I am gathering material which will, in due time, be given to the learned world, still one is most of all attracted to the study of man. There is no other being on this earth half so interesting. There is nothing in the zoological gardens so wonderful as the animal man, who has caged the tiger and conquered the lion. More wonderful than all he may exhibit, is the great showman, Barnum, himself. Who does not adopt as his own the fine sentiment of the Roman poet:
"Homo sum; humani nil a me alienum puto."

A sweet child with eager hands,
Whom life here is very cheap,
Is as rarely to be reported by the daily press. Death is the penalty for a long list of crimes, which the story is the only witness to. Some weeks ago the daily papers for Monday, had each a column headed "Euthanasia," announcing that "Euthanasian Day" would be the next Sunday.

Mr. Darwin Bruges responded to my inquiries concerning this announcement in the following style: "Euthanasian Day is public execution apart in Neocosmia is public execution and for the death of those who are tired of life, and of those whose departure is demanded by public interest." In the old world there is a superstitious regard for human life. The deformed child is nourished as if to make its sufferings as long as possible were a virtue; the hopelessly diseased are kept along for weeks and months when it is clearly seen that death is their only relief. They are kept in their misery, and the issue are supported at public expense; there fine houses, called State-prisons, are built, and supplied with all the conveniences of civilization, and there the criminal classes are watched and supported as though they were public benefactors. Now, in this country, all these and other classes are permitted to die. But we have a better way, or a carbonic acid gas, by this process, the gradual death of death steals upon them, and nothing that before they think of it they are gone. All that are to die are placed in the same apartment. This apartment is made perfectly close. The gas is quickly forced into it. Those within usually keep up their conversation till the darkness comes on and then rest. From the worry and the sorrow of life, comparatively few die a painful death by Euthanasia. We will attend next Sunday and you shall see for yourself.

As easy as possible. Beholding is bloody; strangulation is savage, whether by hanging or other means; drowning is uncertain; and death by an electrical shock leaves the subject in keen expectation of the event. We have a better way, or a carbonic acid gas, by this process, the gradual death of death steals upon them, and nothing that before they think of it they are gone. All that are to die are placed in the same apartment. This apartment is made perfectly close. The gas is quickly forced into it. Those within usually keep up their conversation till the darkness comes on and then rest. From the worry and the sorrow of life, comparatively few die a painful death by Euthanasia. link in the chain of causation. His belief in moral freedom is a delusion, and all his hopes and fears relative to righteousness or sin, are alike groundless. Man's whole happiness is to be found in this life; hence that course should be taken which will secure the greatest happiness in this world to the greatest number. It taking the lives of the young, the hapless, and the aged, will secure this object, society should not hesitate. Suffering martyrdom in the cause of truth and in the hope of eternal life is a sort of madness.

These views of man are not only freely advocated by writers and speakers, but they are woven with the web of daily life, in the home and in the market place, in the shop and in the parlor. As constantly as others urge obedience to conscience, do they enforce obedience to enlightened self-interest; as frequently as you may speak of the awards of Heaven, do they speak of the oblivion, the non-existence of man in the grave. As you may suppose, such views have great influence on both the individual and society. If any one wishes to see the ripened fruit of such teaching, he should visit Neocosmia. Here not mere a priori logic, not reasoning merely from tendencies and causes, but demonstrated results, will open his eyes to the enormity of these doctrines. So long as a theory has to do with the far away stars, with the origin of worlds, with the conditions of an eternity over which he has no control, or with the abstract, so long as the theories do not cross the orbit of practical life, they may be harmless, and may be received or rejected; but when they become mighty engines that fanaticism must drive through our streets and through our homes, regardless of mangled forms, of crushed and bleeding hopes, then it becomes a question of great moment, whether these theories shall be advocated or not, shall be received or rejected. The philosophers of Neocosmia are not the men to falter at any results; they follow out what they call reason and science to the end, however repugnant the consequences may be to their instincts the dim remembrance of former training and their better nature.

Human life here is very cheap. Misdeeds are very common; so common as rarely to be reported by the daily press. Death is the penalty for a long list of crimes, which the story is the only witness to. Some weeks ago the daily papers for Monday, had each a column headed "Euthanasia," announcing that "Euthanasian Day" would be the next Sunday.

Mr. Darwin Bruges responded to my inquiries concerning this announcement in the following style: "Euthanasian Day is public execution apart in Neocosmia is public execution and for the death of those who are tired of life, and of those whose departure is demanded by public interest." To R.D. CATTLE OF LINC.—A correspondent of the Farmers' Advocate says: "Some ten or twelve years ago, an agricultural writer observed the rest of his cattle; and thinking over the matter, he came to the conclusion that the habit of pawing dirt over himself must have the effect of keeping lice off, and he tried the earth on the rest of the cattle, with the best effect. Ever since reading that, I have got nothing but dry earth, and have found it perfectly efficacious, both as a preventive and cure."

HOG DISEASE.

[Farmer's Review.]

For the last three years, thousands of hogs have died throughout the West with a disease some dummies have concluded to call cholera. It is no more like cholera, than the itch is like the small pox.

The disease commences in the upper end of the wind pipe, which causes a slight cough; as it works down the cough becomes worse, edged water coming from the throat. When the disease gets upon the lungs the hog dies, although many have it slightly and recover. The measure I think is contagious. Here one or two of a drove of hogs have it, and die, there are apt to contract it. You may say it is similar to the scarlet fever in the human family. If one child in a family of half a dozen children have the fever, it is seldom all the others escape.

When a farmer has a drove of hogs and he sees one that has the appearance of having the disease, the best way is to shoot him and bury him out of sight.

Some farmers say the feeding of coal, sulphur, salt and ashes, will prevent the disease. Such doctrine is all hog; three years ago I had forty hogs; they had an oration of twelve acres run in, plenty of water, and nearly as much corn as they would eat. They were taken with the disease; I gave the different kinds of medicine recommended, all to no purpose. I then tried tar with their food. It vomited them. I washed their throats with turpentine. Down one cross fellow I poured about a gill of it. I "cured" him in about ten minutes. I kept on experimenting until thirty of them died. I buried them as fast as they died (except those that I opened in a deep trench. A farmer that will permit hogs that have died with disease to remain above ground for days, is deserving of punishment.

I see by the Inspector's Record that a Mr. W. Benton, of Sugar Grove, has obtained a patent on a compound for the disease. If one person would find a preventive he would be entitled to more money than our State has offered to any person who would find what caused the milk sickness. I wait for developments.

FIRST THINGS.

An Interesting Chapter
Early Inventions, and
When they were Introduced.

Envelopes were first used in 1839. Amnesia was discovered in 1844. The first steel pen was made in 1844.

The first air pump was made in 1854. The first lucifer match was made in 1829.

The first balloon ascent was made in 1783. The first iron steamship was built in 1830.

Ships were first "copper-bottomed" in 1783. Coaches were first used in England in 1669.

The first horse railroad was built in 1826. The entire Hebrew Bible was printed in 1844.

Gold was first discovered in California in 1848. The first steamer pined the Hudson in 1807.

The first watches were made at Nuremberg in 1567. Kerosene was first used for lighting purposes in 1826.

The first newspaper advertisement appeared in 1826. The first copper cent was coined in New Haven in 1687.

The first telescope was probably used in England in 1608. The first saw-maker's anvil was brought to America in 1819.

The first use of a locomotive in this country was in 1839. The first almanac was printed by George Van Pelt in 1460.

The first chimney was introduced into Rome from Padua in 1329. Glass windows were first introduced into England in the eight century.

The first steam engine on this continent was brought from England in 1763. The first compass was not used in 1768.

And he said to you express these opinions. Mr. Gas was first in 1702. Its first use in New York was in 1827.

The first glass factory in the United States of which we have definite knowledge was built in 1739. The first national bank in the United States was incorporated by Congress, Dec. 31, 1781.

The first temperance society in this country was organized in Saratoga county, N. Y. in March 1808. The first machine for carding, roving, and spinning cotton made in the United States was manufactured in 1786.

The first society for the expurgation of the Bible was organized in 1805, under the name of "British and Foreign Bible Society."

The first telegraphic instrument was successfully operated by S. F. B. Morse, the inventor, in 1835, though its utility was not demonstrated to the world until 1844.

The first Union flag was unfurled on the first of January, 1776, over the camp at Cambridge. It had thirteen stripes of white and red and retained the English cross in our corner.

How to Treat Diptheria.

Quite a discovery in the treatment of diptheria has been made in Minnesota. A young man whose arm had been amputated was attacked by diptheria before healing took place, and instead of the matter intensifying, the greater portion appeared on the wounded arm, and the diptheria was light and easily managed. Dr. Davis of Mankato, profited by this, and in his next case of diptheria blistered his patients' chest, and on this blister the chief deposit appeared. This was also an easy case of the disease. The theory of Dr. Davis is that diptheria usually appears in the throat because of the thinness of the lining of the throat. Hence, when the blister breaks the skin upon any other part of the body, the disease appears there.

PERIQUE.—It is generally supposed that "perique" tobacco is a peculiar plant, and can only be grown in St. James Parish, Louisiana. It is a mistake. It is merely subject to a peculiar treatment. While the plant is growing the smaller leaves near the top are stripped off, and the lower leaves attain a prodigious size in consequence. These are then taken and cured for weeks without being allowed to dry thoroughly. Perique is largely used in the manufacture of cigars.

H. M. Jones has a very fine stock of carboys, oil, and white iron castings. His stock is one of the most superior ever introduced in Princeton. Prices to suit the times.

Pretty and Young

In every feature but the hair, which had grown white from fever. This lady at 45 writes us: "I have used Parker's Hair Balsam for six months and am more than pleased with it. It has restored the natural brown color of my hair and given it a silky softness, nicer than ever before. There is no dandruff, no falling hair, and it leaves the scalp so clean, nice and cool that I am over so much pleased and feel like myself again." The beautiful, fresh and vigorous hair that it produces, together with its property of restoring gray and faded hair to the youthful color, and entirely freeing the head from dandruff and itching, surprise us less than its pleasant. Sold in large bottles at 50c and 25c by Dr. Jas. A. Maxwell.

SALLIE HOOD VI, 4560. ELMHURST PRINCE, 2367. DUCHESS OF LAWNDALE, 5738.
The Property of W. Shelby Wilson "Lawnale Farm," Shelbyville, Ky.

Editorial Correspondence.

FRANKFORD, Ky., April 10, 1880.

On last Saturday evening I availed myself of an opportunity to visit the famous "Lawnale Farm" in Shelby county, Mr. W. Shelby Wilson, proprietor. This farm is beautifully situated within 2 or 3 miles of Christianburg station on the Louisville and Frankfort Railway. Mr. Wilson enjoys a national reputation as a breeder of Berkshire hogs and fine poultry. I had heard and read so much of his fine hogs and fine poultry, and feeling a deep and abiding interest in the improvement of fine stock in Southern Kentucky, that I concluded to go and see him and his stock.

I found Mr. Wilson a very pleasant gentleman and his wife one of the most agreeable ladies I ever met. The "Lawnale Farm" is composed of 160 acres of very fertile land, worth in the market, cash, about $75,000 per acre. It is all open—very scarcely timbered on it at all—half off in cultivation, which are cultivated in corn, wheat, and clover.

His best hog, Elmhurst Prince, is 4 years old, of the best English strain weighs now, while lean in order, about 600 lbs. He is large, long and active—a splendid animal. His next bear, Sallie Hood VI, is two years old, of fine form, and weighs fully 600 pounds or thereabouts. Lord Rogers is of the straight Samba strain, five years old next September, of splendid figure and action, and weighs now, between 500 and 600 pounds, and, if fat, he would pull down 850 or 900 pounds.

Just here, I would say, that I was fortunate enough to secure this splendid animal, now in his prime. He will be on exhibition at Princeton during the first week of our circuit court. I will give him away next October as a BANNER premium. The Prince hog measures 6 feet 9 inches from a point midway between his ears to the root of his tail, and the other two hogs are fully as long. Of his brood sows, Cleopatra stands at the head. She is five years old, imported and cost $400 in gold. She weighs now, while in lean condition, at least 550 pounds, and has a fine figure.

Mr. Wilson has some forty or fifty pigs already sold that will be delivered this spring. He has also engaged many pigs from famous sows by Prince. They will be delivered this fall. I saw the list of premiums won by Mr. Wilson's hogs and sows. The list is a long and "loud" one, and it tells how high his herd stands in Kentucky and adjoining States.

I was glad to hear from Mr. Wilson that two or three gentlemen in Caldwell county had ordered pigs, and I hope that five dozen others will follow suit. Good pigs of either sex can be had of Mr. Wilson at $15 each. Those from Black Rose and Cleopatra sell at $25 each, because those sows cost Mr. Wilson $400 and $500.

I commend Mr. Wilson most heartily to all who want a thoroughbred Berkshire pig of either sex.

John Sherman is said to have ruined himself by his recent electioneering trip to Ohio. We presume he must be suffering from Chill-Blains.

John Sherman's fence are down again. His fence is in a bad way, but just instructed his delegates for Blaine.

McCORMICK MACHINES!

WHAT WE THINK OF THEM.

The McCormick Iron Mower bought of C. A. Higbee last season I consider the BEST Mower I ever saw in EVERY particular and I know MANY machines. It is very light draft, simple and does fine work. I have well tested it, having cut about 100 acres of grass with it. Can most cheerfully recommend it to the farmers as being superior to any Machine I ever saw.

Z. J. CRIDER.

The McCormick Iron Mower bought of C. A. Higbee last season is not only all that it was represented to be but astonished us in the way it worked. It seemed the something else, that the team had nothing to do but to guide it so perfectly adapted itself to rough ground. We do not see how it can ever be improved and recommend it to all as the Perfect Mower.

S. B. WIGGINTON,
R. L. WIGGINTON,

The McCormick DROPER.

FOR SMALL AND MEDIUM FARMS.

This is the RIGHT Machine in the RIGHT place, and is guaranteed in every respect. It has no superior as a combined Reaper and Mower.

The McCormick Self Rake.

The advantage of a Self Rake is known to all thinking men, the saving of grain and leaving the sheaves in the best shape for the binders. This Machine is strong, durable and does fine work. As a combined Self Rake and Mower I know none as good.

THE McCORMICK SELF-BINDER.

WIRE Yea, WIRE. The great blow about wire, wire, wire, made by the Twine Binders is all BOSH, and I can convince any Mechanic or Farmer that Wire Binders are less complicated than Twine and will give better satisfaction. The Wire can be cut and removed in threading as easily as straw, if desired.

THE McCORMICK PRIZE MOWER.

TESTED FOR MANY YEARS—STILL AHEAD.

The McCormick PRIZE Mower bought of C. A. Higbee last season is all that he represented it to be. It is beyond all doubt the strongest and yet the lightest Mower I ever saw. You have well named it. It is in fact a PRIZE Mower.

ALFRED BECKNER.

The McCormick PRIZE Mower bought last season of C. A. Higbee, though strong, is the lightest running Mower we ever saw. We think one horse could pull it with shafts. It will start off without backing in the thickest of grass. We have tested it many times even in wet grass and never choked in a single instance. We have well tested it and know what we say.

HUNTER & TEMPLEMAN.

Ask Uncle Dick Fryer and Mr. Allen Baker how they like theirs and all the others who have bought them.

In offering the McCORMICK MACHINES to the Farmers, I believe I offer the BEST Machines in the market. I know what a Machine is and of course select the best. I am in your midst where you can put your finger on me at any time and hold me responsible for what I say. And I say here: Should any Machines be manufactured superior to the McCormick, I will throw up the McCormick and take them. Your good is my good. If I cheat you I cheat myself. Thanking you for your liberal patronage I am
VERY TRULY,
C. A. HIGBEE.

THERE'S NO DOUBT OF IT!

THE HOMESTEAD FERTILIZERS PAY, AND PAY HANDSOMELY.

Reliable and Experienced Farmers in Caldwell and adjoining Counties have tried them, and they all recommend their use.

Old and thin lands are made to produce the best crops, and the soil is permanently benefited.

READ WHAT RELIABLE FARMERS SAY:

PRINCETON, KY., Jan. 1, 1890.

I have tried the "Homestead Tobacco Grower" fairly, and without hesitation I state, for the benefit of others, that it will pay.

W. H. BLACKBURN.

PRINCETON, KY., Jan. 1, 1890.

Last spring I had five fine plant beds, in which the plants were looking well; the bugs came and almost destroyed them, in fact, I gave them up. I heard of the Tobacco Grower sold by Mr. Higbee, and bought 50 cts. worth, and put it on my beds several times. The bugs left, the plants came out, and I soon had fine plants on all my beds. I recommend it to farmers for plant beds, especially when bugs are preying upon them.

J. M. JENNINGS.

MARION, CRITTENDEN CO., KY., Jan. 1, 1890.

I used last year the "Homestead Tobacco Grower" on plants that were being eaten up by bugs, and it drove them off, brought the plants on very rapidly and improved them very much. I also experimented with the Tobacco Grower on many kinds of produce, and I was well pleased with the results. I am confident it will pay well to use it. I shall use it again this year, and recommend it to farmers generally.

J. L. HILL.

PRINCETON, KY., Jan. 1, 1890.

I bought last season of Mr. C. A. Higbee a barrel of the "Homestead Tobacco Grower" for experimental purposes, and I used it on a new ground field. There were hills in which I put none of the fertilizer. I was astonished to find that the Tobacco Grower was put. The plants were nine days after the plants were put. The Tobacco Grower was used, and there were many plants of that size, while I could not get any of the plants where there was none of the fertilizer. I do not exaggerate when I say that the yield in weight was double where the Tobacco Grower was used. It will pay, and pay well to use it. It is just what our farmers need for thin or hard-run lands. I also used it on old land, and during the entire season the tobacco grew as rapidly and looked as well as that where I had used, in heavy quantities, well-rotted stable manure.

W. J. DOLLAR.

Notwithstanding the dry season in 1879, all who used the Tobacco Grower were well pleased with it, and all recommend its use. I could furnish 500 certificates from our best farmers, but I suppose those above are sufficient. I feel warranted in saying that this "Homestead Tobacco Grower" will increase the yield of tobacco from 50 to 100 per cent., and it permanently improves the soil. It matures the crop from 10 to 15 days earlier than any other manure, and thus secures it from early frosts.

None of this fertilizer is placed on the market until it is analyzed and known to be up to the standard. Its great value is no longer a matter of doubt and experiment. Thirty thousand dollars worth of it was used last year in the Clarksville District, a very significant fact to tobacco men.

THE COST OF IT.

This "Tobacco Grower" is sold at $60 per ton, 3 cts. per pound by the barrel, or 5 cts. per pound by the retail. Send in your orders early.

"THE HOMESTEAD SUPERPHOSPHATE"

Is the same as the "Tobacco Grower," with a smaller quantity of saltpetre. It is prepared for use on Corn, Wheat, Grass, etc., as these crops require less saltpetre than tobacco. This superphosphate has been tried by many and they all recommend it. Its cost is one-half cent per pound less than the Tobacco Grower.

All of the Homestead Fertilizers are warranted to be as represented. Try them and you will be satisfied with them. Send in your orders as early as possible.

How to Observe Sunday.

The question of the proper observance of Sunday has been a much disputed one, and is of much interest. A certain amount of religious service should of course form a part of each Sunday's life; should indeed be its central idea, but it should not infringe upon the demands of over-worked nature for rest. But what is rest? Clearly what would be rest to one would not be to another. What would increase strength and vitality to the day laborer would make the weary student, book-keeper or editor more weary. The work of the six week days, whatever it is, should be put entirely out of sight from Sunday to Monday. Mental labor—reading, writing or other employment that requires mental effort. Physical laborers must cease physical labor, and can obtain the desired rest in mental improvement. Those whose week days are spent within the four walls of a store or an office, should be in the open air, in the broad fields where they can breathe nature's purifying draughts, as much as possible. Those who labor out of doors will find their greatest rest and enjoyment on Sunday in their homes. The business man and the banker should cease all thought of his business, take a complete respite "from all thoughts of 'shop' and Sunday for all classes should be made as wisely different from other days in the week as possible. Sunday should be made enjoyable, especially for the children, that they may grow up with the love of the day, instead of an aversion for it, as too common even in the best Christian families. The observance of the day in each household should be made a study; that the most profitable and rest-giving enjoyments to suit each case may be found, and then let the observance of the day, once settled, be lived up to as strictly as a business transaction. The day should have its distinctive features, religious culture, freedom for toil for servant as well as master; rest in its true sense, and enjoyment of the higher order, which relaxes the nervous system, and is one of nature's greatest restoratives. All have their place and none of them should be neglected.

Seeds for Small Gardens.

People who grow largely for market know, as a part of their business, how many garden seeds to sow, but this is not always the case with the men and women who have but a small garden, for these we give the following:

Asparagus, bed of 15 square yards, 1 pint.
Beet, row feet, 2 ounces.
Cabbage, bed of 8 square yards, 1 ounce.
Carrots, drill of 120 feet, 2 ounces.

Tribune and Farmer.

The homes of the German army are now fed with biscuits. They consist of thirty parts of oat flour, thirty parts of dextrinated pea flour, thirty parts of rye flour, and ten parts of linseed flour; sometimes of twenty parts of pea flour, twenty parts of wheat flour, twenty parts of corn meal, twenty parts of rye flour, twenty parts of grated bread, and ten parts of linseed flour. The ingredients are made into biscuits. The first-named mixture is the best. These biscuits are made with a hole in the middle of each, so they can be strung and hung to the saddle-bow, or be carried by the trooper around the waist. Each biscuit weighs, baked dry and hard, about two ounces. Seven biscuits are broken up and consumed by the trooper in a convenient, otherwise dry—twelve at noon and seven at night. After careful experiments in camp, on the march and campaigning, they are reported by the cavalry and artillery officers to be better than any. A trooper can easily carry thirty pounds of these biscuits which will furnish him with full rations for eight days, or will serve, with forage, for twenty days' hard marching.

A Queer Little Beast.

The Norwegian lemming is an animal about the size of a mouse. It lives under stones in the summer, under snow in the winter. It blazes and hies. About once in ten years they immigrate in large armies. They march in a straight line. They cross lakes and rivers. They go through haystacks rather than go around. Nothing stops them, not fire, cascades nor swamps. If a man stands in the way they will jump at him as high as his knee. If struck they will turn around and bark and bite like a dog. Foxes, lynxes, owls, hawks and weasels will follow them and destroy large numbers of them, but it does not check them. They continue their course until they reach the sea, into which they plunge, as persistent and progressive as ever, until the waves drown and exterminate them.
